

Different optical modules at both ends

Overview

Parallel optics transmission For parallel optics transmission, parallel optical modules at both ends of the link contain multiple transmitters and receivers, utilizing multiple optical fibers to transmit and receive signals through multiple paths. Its primary function is to achieve optoelectronic conversion by converting electrical signals into optical signals and vice versa. An. Deployment flexibility with 800G (dual 400G), 400G, 100G, 50G, 40G, 25G, 10G or 1G modules. QSFP+ Universal transceiver for 40G operations over duplex multi-mode and single-mode fiber. Interoperable with IEEE 40GbE LR4 and LRL4 for easier migrations from 10G to 40G and to single mode fiber 100G. Single fiber modules (BiDi) use one fiber for both transmitting and receiving data. Dual fiber modules use two fibers. 1, Same wavelength In a fiber optic link, data is transmitted from one end to the other, and the optical module is responsible.
