

Outdoor configuration in Guatemala

Overview

The country is roughly divided into four geographic regions: the central-western highlands, the low northern plateau which is largely jungle, the southern volcanic belt, and tropical coastal lowlands. The temperate mountain regions are the most densely populated. The ASIAPRODE Association initiated the project to construct 26 homes in order to cover the needs of the affected communities. Instead of trekking for 4-5 hours, you'll only walk about 45 minutes on a mostly flat path—ideal for travelers with tight schedules, limited mobility, or concerns like knee, back, or. Integrator AKTIVA, based in Guatemala, has transformed this open riverside residence into an eco-friendly smart home with natural lighting and energy in every zone. From the dense jungles to the towering volcanoes, this enchanting destination offers a vast and exhilarating outdoor playground.
